Our DNA

Since its creation, Fromont Briens has pursued a development approach based on unfailing internal growth through a partnership policy of our associates, most of whom were recruited at the end of their university studies.

The firm contributes to the development of positive law and doctrine through the regular publication of articles and works, a collaboration with numerous academics specialised in labour and employment law and through technical discussions conducted with the support of a scientific adviser.

Fromont Briens is an international law firm per se, acting as the privileged partner of foreign employers conducting business in France.
